If your current AAP doesn't address these new requirements, you will not be in compliance. You need ... Secrets of Affirmative Action Compliance. Any business receiving money from contracts under the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009. Easy to use book with numerous forms and checklists. Gives you federal regulation requirements and then shows you how to meet them. It couldn't be simpler...or less expensive. Save thousands of dollars by preparing your own AAP documents. Save thousands of dollars by preparing your own 16-step construction contract affirmative action specifications. Order your copy today! If your organization has chosen to do business with federal, state or local governments, this book is going to be invaluable to you. Most government contractors (vendors and suppliers) are required to have a written Affirmative Action Program for minorities and women. Two additional written AAP documents are required for Disabled and for Veterans. This book shows you how to meet all three requirements in one document. Use the checklists to conduct your own internal compliance review so you can detect problems before they are pointed out by compliance officials. Use the diagrams, flow charts and forms to both understand and implement your own affirmative action programs as you determine they are necessary. Help your organization meet legal requirements. Be sure you have the latest information in the latest edition of this book. Compliance depends on being current with information and legal requirements.
