Food for War: Agriculture and Rearmament in Britain before the Second World War Alan F. Wilt

This groundbreaking study charts Britain's food and agricultural preparations in the 1930s. It shows that in this sector, in contrast to other areas of the economy, government plans were already well-developed by 1939 and examines how the measures of the 1930s not only set the stage for World War II but also contributed to a more robust British agriculture in the decades that followed.
